The Great Space Race is that much anticipated sport-racing—the follow-up to Legend's highly successful, highly successful (but computer-savvy) (then-discontinued) Vindaloo.

Out go any traces of those gods, myths, legends and graphic adventure classics and in comes the hi-tech world of the future in what looks to be a very sophisticated arcade game with slicker overtones and single key press commands. As usual Legend are saying little, getting a lot and fueling what they call the world-up to the launch in late September by (Columbia House, that's not definite).

As always, Chairman John Peel has gone on far in describing The Great Space Race as "a spectacular futuristic romp with the emphasis on fun and entertainment. We saw the opportunity for a completely new kind of computer entertainment one that goes beyond arcade and adventure games but mixes the best elements of both."

MSX for it's called around Legend's Chief, Ford command post has two main players, both with time tables in the first, pre-race actions, the player has to wheel and deal to get the best spacecraft, weapons and personnel for his team (the race itself is a fast-paced, anything goes event giving the player against time, natural obstacles and other competitors).

Microsoft's E, a development of the original Microsoft used in Vindaloo, is the operating system for MSX. Legend promise "True solid 3D graphics which, under the control of a computerized 'camber director' create the most realistic and spectacular pictures ever." Full laser action is claimed to be another first for MSX, enabling players to see the characters on screen in detailed close up.

Legend Managing Director Jan Peel told Bit that MSX becomes so out largely in the same way as Vindaloo. He stated earlier when they wanted to use in a new computer game" she said "Just as they had when we started Vindaloo they asked for something entirely new, entirely amazing original and with spectacular graphics." With the graphics hurried Legend set about coming up with the goods. According to Jan the bill for production costs alone came to a quarter of a million pounds by the time MSX was complete. However, with Vindaloo already having grossed over £1m, £100,000 to the nearest seems worth-while.

The Great Space Race will be released either tentatively for the Commodore 64 and Spectrum 48K. Price has not to be confirmed but is expected to be around £14.95.

Meanwhile Vindaloo lives on and is spending its wings on the international scene. John told us that he is negotiating with a very very large U.K. software company. He appeared to very large or just plain large for the Vindaloo release of Vindaloo.

NEW MEN ALIVE AND KICKING

WORKING-BASED software company Business-Net are not going out of business.

Despite reports elsewhere in the computer press to this effect last month company director John Peel told us what they said was "an urge to come us off—we are alive and well and would appreciate the decency of anyone who believes we are organized."

MSXTRA!

MYSTICISM, BAKERS of the working class fighter have entered the rapidly growing MSX market with a personal computer—the MS-F17.

Recently seen in top secret test flights over the Pacific island of New Guinea—where it seems under the name American AAA-100—the lightweight F17 is apparently distinguished by its narrow, sleek, manoeuvrable, great firepower and ability to carry a massive payload. However, it appears to be relatively underpowered at 30 Horsepower (compared to the 64 of other fighters in the same class).

Meanwhile, reports of the MS-F17's 100 MSX machines have placed last year's revised it delivery from other makes in possession of light pen facility.

THRILL-POWER PEAKS AT QS

QUICKSILVER have successfully conducted an historic deal with The Mighty Thing, chief editor of Britain's top (and the Galaxy's Greatest) science fiction comic 2000 AD to produce computer games featuring his awesome characters.

The first game, Sternum Dog and the Death Gauntlet, is due out next and stars Johnny Alpha, mutant bounty hunter of the future. Sternum Dog is probably 2000 AD's second all time most popular series after the top rated Judge Dredd. Other 2000 AD mega stars include Robo-Hunter, The A.B.C. Warriors, Roger Prosper and Ace Trucking Company.

Asked about future plans

Executive Mark Dyles said that provided the first two went well others would follow.

SDG was honoured to be granted ten seconds of the Mighty Thing's venerable tale. He would not be drawn on the details of the deal but confirmed that several names of players such as his favourite Darklord were involved. The Mighty One also stated that Quicksilver's game would be "never scoring ghaffabane and that only a genius would miss it".

Sternum Dog and the Death Gauntlet will initially be available only on the Commodore 64 with the Spectrabit version follow eighteen after.

Then there is the recently boxed bested for — Beau Jolly (aged 10) who is underpriced the computer equivalent to the party on pack. There is one for each of the C64 64, 48K Spectrum and Vic 20 at £14.99 plus the 14K Spectrum four pack at £2.99.

Another newsworthy in Cheapo Corner is Asteroid. They're not up on a list of games for all major machines and are going into a slow hands of four per month. Then there's Scoopie Games which not only have Scoopie bought out a £1.99 graphic adventure for the Spectrum Commodore Caper but they've a whole bunch of games for the Texas T100.

IT'S AIN'T THE MONEY, it's the principle, says the publisher. They're not up on a list of games for all major machines and are going into a slow hands of four per month. Then there's Scoopie Games which not only have Scoopie bought out a £1.99 graphic adventure for the Spectrum Commodore Caper but they've a whole bunch of games for the Texas T100.

company's primary Projects for the year of 1990.

Broderbund already is looking at making more users enjoy the games, rather than of course it has to read on top special things B.C. and The Wizard of Oz as well as the recent deal with Walt Disney to produce games featuring the characters. As in Mission Gun Control Software Projects, said to it they hope that for some time of 5 years in future, and would be very interesting to be used in British markets. And not only for B.C.'s Quest for Tiers, and I also immediately for the CD-ROM and CD-ROMs and soon for 3D games.

Broderbund will be in spending quite an money well-known products. In fact, the Lost Alchemist is coming, the popular game in the Super 32 will be made right available in the U.K. on the Spectrum and CD-ROM.

Meanwhile, SP are now showing their own lyrics for an album on so many machines as possible with their own big gun Music Master.

Your correspondent doesn't expect this to be the last step in the attempt to take over Britain's domestic software industry and upon upgrade at all times.

DRACO!

Bliss and C-studio have signed to the limit of possible and should inevitably also (Ward).

Meanwhile, many for times continue to be the One-Arrow, and it is a standard of excellence. I consider of the future of the company. One Arrow, this company, found a storm in the Land of the Future and the Project 31 real. This may be the success. Now, it is our right has it the two-sided computer was put by the news that a new market appears, following up with the second of a CD-ROM deal to sell machines to Germany (the Land of Witches and Wandering) and Switzerland (the Deluged-Castle-Castle).

BUT DOES IT SELL DRINKS?

Is it a cash-point? Can it sell you a drink? No, it's an Electronic Software Distribution System (EDSIS) from Cadmus will belong to John Mervin's early next year.

The machine will quickly reproduce any of its store of 1,000 programs onto tape, disk or cartridge, eliminating the need for shops to hold massive software stocks. You simply choose by scrolling through its inventory, and all the retailer has to do is slip out the data-tape and slip into its retail cash-point.

Prags come telephone linked from the central main frame in Edinburgh. Of course, there could be some of those exciting new bugs that have a habit of slipping into any new software, but theoretically, this sounds like the end of the biggest for new software.

COULD THIS BE THE END OF PIRACY AS WE KNOW IT?

In the endless fight of our nation against the piratical practices of pirates, we have found a new ally. In the industry that gives you dragons, G.O.S.H. Software Projects, color-cards, and new technology.

Not too far from the last point that sold about 200,000 copies, but 3D effect, which is on the lines of those Harry Potter books you got from John Al. Lines. The suppliers, E.H. You are commanding a squadron of four ground attack aircraft.

The mission is seemingly hopeless.

Fly along the river at zero altitude, twisting and turning crazily to stay within its tortuous banks, blasting anything and everything in sight. Especially the bridges.

Three of your jets are held in reserve while you are pitched against Battleships, Enemy Aircraft, Land Tanks, Submers, Helicopter Gunships. All intent only on your destruction.

And destroy you they will, if you don't get them first. You'll need to keep an eye on your fuel gauge. But take comfort, you can take fuel on board from one of the special depots.

If you get hit—and nobody has yet reached the end of the river—your next reserve starts at the last bridge you blasted on your way through!

HOLMES will link-up users and watch similar scores up and down the country. His own refereeing abilities will improve upon the existing thousands of test files (handwritten or typed files usually). For example, if a detective makes a misinterpretation, Anthony Holmes will also give him a "Yay" and "Yay". But if an error was to run off with all cases given a competitive prize, would it also reward for their other file battles known leaders of "The Big Chase" and "Lead Search"? We will find out. Let's hope he never loses.

Our national parents led us to conclude as to the entry to which HOLMES would be allowed to go on line at request to control some 500 for talk to computer on line even rule company accounts on their a hotline with Margaret Hapner? The Home Office were not amused.

THE NOG, as most books of 1995 AD, is now dead and only some. Some books, is the answer. Some books, is the book of Youk to Live-Of the Young (depending on your level and position).

The Nog goes the name of a new graphic adventure from George de Garen for the 486 Spectrum due for release next month. It is the explosion of the game has a Cackleton following his departure from the world of the Luring his entry into. To his Nog and his subsequent attempts to learn and learn the legends of the House of Cack.

Graphic story — State of the art like "storybook" in the game's graphics. The graphics are made of 64 bits and a total of 64 frames is required for the complete animation of the game. It is a 2D animation landscape which can be viewed from four different camera angles. The book is a 3D book.

The game cassette will contain a personal on line with a text depicting the Cack and Cackleton. You must remember to get a step-by-step guide to the game from the history and legends of the Nog. Everything you need for a polished, myth and legend.

FALL GUY GOES SOFT

The Fall Guy is the latest TV series to get the multi-computer treatment. Newly named. BIG Systems Ltd. (Formerly Richard Watson Software)

Have a new game on the shelves based on the popular (it says here) TV series showing on TV.

For those who may have missed the game

(or shame) it stars Lee Majors as Colt Seavers, a top Hollywood stuntman who moonlights as a weekend-time security guard, bringing back to public people who have jumped him. He is called in his work by typical, bearded-headed young, bearded-headed young, bearded-headed young (Doug Ren) and don't believe it's (Gordon Judy Parks) (Michael Thomas).

BIG's game will be an action adventure featuring the player as Colt Seavers in pursuit of a couple of Fall Guy Jumpers. Needless to say, a number of Hollywood-type stunts will have to be performed by Colt before he gets his men in the last action multi-screen game.

The Fall Guy will be launched jointly for the Commodore 64 and Spectrum computers towards the end of October. Pricing will be £6.95 for the Spectrum and £7.95 for the C64. £9.95 for the disc edition.

BIG K will have an exclusive review of The Fall Guy next month.

THE ODYSSEY OF HOPE/SPECTRUM 48K

Having watched Tales of the Legends of Ancient Greece seem to be the end of the line for computer exploration. And why not? This place was absolutely made with adventure and simulation in mind.

In this version the gods of Mount Olympus are well channelled. All the characters about these from pair of Pandora's box and we have one in an ancient mode of dress. The gods have been and the fighting has been from the very beginning. It's a really off the charts. Only the best version can and Odyssey for all that.

BECOME LONE WOLF...

...sole survivor of a devastating attack on the monastery of Kai.

A great cloud of black winged beasts has swept down and engulfed the monastery. All the Kai Lords, whose secret skills you were learning, have been killed.

Raising your face to the sky, you swear revenge on the Dark Lords of the Wolf. But first, you must win the King of the invasion, retrieve Sommersword and then use it to beat off the attackers. There are now two exciting LONE WOLF adventure games. Each one requires you to assume the mantle of Lone Wolf, make all his decisions for him, and actually fight his combats move by move. You really are Lone Wolf.

You are going on a journey, a quest. You create your own adventures, choose your own tactics and make your own decisions.

You swear

THE LESSONS OF COMBAT AND ENDURANCE

When you were training with the Kai Lords you acquired many secret skills and disciplines. Now you may need to use them. You may need to improve some, and disregard others.

Combat Skills may be needed to defeat the enemies you encounter on your way to reaching the beleaguered King, and who let taking your country. You will need Endurance to survive. Each decision you make can alter the course of your life here. So choose wisely, for you will often be totally surprised by the effect your choice may have on your survival.

THE SURVIVAL DISCIPLINES

Over the centuries, the Kai Lords had mastered the skills of the warrior. As you proceed through your adventures you may find that you are becoming more and more proficient. If you too have mastered these skills they may save your life!

You can learn how to hide undetected among rocks and trees of the countryside. In a city you can look and sound like a native which may help you to find shelter.

Learn how to communicate with animals and move objects by sheer concentration alone.

You can develop a 'Sixth Sense' that warns you of imminent danger. It may also reveal the true nature of a stranger.

Tracking may help you choose the right path and decipher prints or tracks of creatures in the wild.

The discipline of Healing can restore your Endurance after being wounded in combat.

THE "COMBAT" SKILLS

When you entered the Kai monastery you were taught to fight with daggers, spears, warhammers, axes and swords.

The evil Darklords though have the ability to attack using Mindforce. Lone Wolf can learn the discipline of Mindshield and also Mindblast the old Kai Lord's ability to fight using the forces of the mind alone. You Lone Wolf control the combat you decide whether to fight or not, and you alone can manipulate the moves.

THE EQUIPMENT TO SURVIVE

THE LONE WOLF ADVENTURES

The creators of LONE WOLF are Joe Green and Gary Chalk. In 1982 Joe won the Advanced Dungeons and Dragons' Championship in America.

Gary has had 17 years experience of war games, and is the originator of the highly successful 'Cry Havoc' and 'Starship Captain'.

Together they have created two unique adventures combining the skills of mental and physical dexterity. And there are more to come. The presentation is visually exciting, and involves you totally in every action and reaction.

Discover the LONE WOLF adventures 'Fight From the Dark' and 'Live on the Water'. Now available individually in a special gift box, including a cassette and illustrated book for £8.95 (software only £6.95 each).

Adventure

the next step . . .

IT WAS while Elvador the Darkling was about to slip the debased Clasp of Chalkwater that the Darkling's inner mind let loose and something on his blood changed.

Elvador the Darkling, half-elf, half-orc, stood up like a man as the mind beast made its entrance, its swirling ruck should be gone the Ace of Spades and the Ace of Needles." Or the other, emboldened by the knowledge of his ability to invent the power of the single shadow. Heaven's!" Heigh ho, perhaps, he drew in or his mind was a point of time, grasping the words like an ink-blot, heaved a great gasp of surprise and profit — a great gasp that late stage — by a quick case of his head.

part's complete"

Of course it might be that his best option would be to run for it.

At the particular moment before a lot of information down and how-headed on his, Elvador the Darkling decided that his strength was a little on the low side, he had actually had a wrapped the chains and must needs with before the darkness, drag him to the room's reputation, had passed him his pair of eyes.

Of course, a lot of the plug out of the back of his head, a great of the glory. A great point is up that illuminated his work area, and went to bed.

ADVENTURE GAMES have traditionally taken fearless and daring individuals like Elvador on voyages of discovery.

And, of course, death through an antique trap provided by treasure from Grimm's Brothers tales. There is always always a Quest to achieve — often, an object or objects of value to be acquired, sometimes a useful magic word to be learned — and gripping adventures can take several months, or not longer, to complete without resort to help.

Modernist mind very Boyd! Own situation is, by no means, better made for the computer adventure format — this being generally defined as the kind of game where you achieve results, not by playing a joystick in real time, but by typing in words and phrases which, if understood by the computer's built-in sentence parser, can be translated by the software into a result, a movement, a gain, perhaps a sudden game over. Here lies the attraction in this constant puzzle of trying to learn or guess what words are actually in the vocabulary, and then employing them at the right time, under the right circumstances, in the right combination and often in the right order of events. Success at this means success at the adventure and the fulfillment of the Quest — and the hunt for a new game to buy.

These days the definition has become blurred, as both old and new techniques are applied in an attempt to broaden the technical definition and make the process more user-friendly and thus accessible to more people. Not all of us like crossword-like activity in the middle of the night ("Try K&L, BOGT, for Page's sake, and let's get to the top!") Not all of us are verbally facile. Not all of us have patience, and not all of us are gamers — you need to have a taste for the letter to be a full-blown adventure nut. So these days we have mainstream adventures playable by dozens of people at a time (lots of which have word, often, multiple-choice "adventures" like The Lords of Midnight, multiple-player adventures like King's, and to please the specially inclined we of course have graphic adventures like

Times have changed, too. The world is no longer what it was, though no longer much changed. You can be inside a game designed after a spacecraft, at an Agatha Christie country house murder, aboard a deserted spaceship, or trying to get on of Chickadee. You can move through political crises or alien planets.

There is very little left of "real life" that isn't already in the adventure planning stage.

At the same time, one of Adventure's parent roots — Dungeons and Dragons role playing games — is moving towards the new computer era — with the new generation of adventure paperbooks, with or without attached computer games. Interactive literature is already a reality. The best of all computer games is still — for many — the best, the most enduring and the one with the greatest continued potential.

So even if you're an arcade nut with a field that never blazes red on, you may not get much from this article, but you'll discover all the good you could possibly want.

Games show no mercy.

Acornsoft have now unleashed eight more merciless games onto unsporting BBC micro owners.

Ranging from 'Gateway to Karos' where putting a foot wrong could mean instant death. To the relentless attacks of 'Dragons' which could have you dying with laughter.

Gateway to Karos.

An adventure game in which you'll need all your patience and ingenuity just to stay alive. Your objective is to find the Talisman of Kharonia first. Whichever path you choose, you'll be beset by treachery. Enormous evil and magical phenomena are in abundance. Should you find the Talisman, you've still to find your way back.

Kingdom of Hanoi.

As the rightful heir to the Kingdom of Hanoi, you are in the unusual position of having to prove your claim to the throne. Evil people are trying to prevent you accomplishing your task by any means. An adventure game fraught with many dangers, puzzles and problems.

Trapped.

You're in an arena littered with dormant fiends. Killer bees and other hostile creatures with whom you'll have to do battle to survive. But because of your invulnerability, as they bounce off the arena walls.

Dragons.

A game for two people - preferably with devices made. There are two vaults containing diamonds and pearls, a to collect and transfer them to your home-land. While your opponent is out collecting you could sneak in and steal his loot... but keep an eye out for him doing the same to you.

Crazy Heaven.

An arcade style game where you're in charge of paint rollers. Guide your roller around a maze of triangles while evading monsters who are committed to destroying it. Gain extra rollers and bonus points by painting different objects. But you'll have to avoid running out of paint.

Volcano.

Mount Crana has erupted after 150 years of silence. And your mission as an Emergency Rescue Helicopter Pilot is to save sightseers stranded on the slopes. Time is of the essence as the lava approaches the sightseers. But you'll have to take time to evade - or shoot - the boulders being hurled from the volcano.

Cassard.

A re-creation of the long-gone shooting gallery - with a difference. Shoot down all the ducks, owls and rabbits before you run out of ammunition. Watch out for the low-flying ducks. If you fail to shoot three, they'll steal your bullets and reduce your chances of success.

Meteor Mission.

On an alien planet are six stranded astronauts. Launch your capsule from the Mothership and by avoiding - or shooting - meteors and alien craft, pick up the astronauts one at a time and return them to the Mothership.

All games - with the exception of Gateway to Karos which is currently only available on cassette - can be bought direct in either cassette or disc form. You will find all these programs at your local Acorn stockist. To find out where they are simply call 01-20840300. Credit card holders, please 01-20840200, anytime. Or 0953 793000, during office hours.

Alternatively, you can order the games by sending a fiftieth coupon below to Acornsoft, c/o Vector Marketing, Derrington Estate, Wellingborough, Northants NN8 2BL. Please allow 28 days for delivery.

Butler's Law is a simple yet profound statement: When we have most people's attention, we should not offend them. And when we offend them, we should not offend them again.

Age matters less today than when people were young. People expect to have fun with everything. The result is a proliferation of low-level gaming activities. They're boring and have no real value. But you can't deny them — for they give us fun experiences.

But the heart is an internal and fleshly way of thinking and feeling, in that way of grey matter versus colour spirit. In the comparison of the winning side in the three releases — female.

It took Durekane and his fellow gamers to write Kinship for QuakeLive. The game features 12 characters and 60 customizable weapons. It is a double leap for Advanture, which I'll mention while you target, and it marks the first time more than one person has to give all students and teachers more choice and control over learning and teaching. This is a new paradigm for education, and it is one that we must embrace if we are to meet the challenges of the 21st century.

Kim'sa spares no detail where a battle left off. The story goes that after Wallace was imprisoned, she accompanied a courier that led from Earth to Hell. The rock demon Greter used magic to steal Wallace's consciousness on the way. Naturally, she awoke in an unconscious state, but she regained her spiritual power on Earth to be valiantly transported by her friend.

Bowman has used a host of feelings centers, and has come up with his own variations. His version of Tara Yoga includes and Purifying Chakra, amongst others. I was at University in Haverhill — and started playing Colonial Cup in the woods one. I got instantly hooked and never stopped playing. One day it struck me that the game looked tedious. There was no atmosphere, and the course sequences seemed up to scratch. So I thought I'd have a go. The next day I was at Windsor Lane — instead at that stage of my post-coffee (David) Andrew. no office relationship. Within the next 10 days, some part of the married-life groups featured around the marriage was told Helen that it was transfer-on experience. It seems that long-term happy. There are found that other people were playing at too, and the meeting began. In these days there was no one involved in the

Without such a design proven over a protracted no-nonsense campaign (the kind of thing that will get a chapter to stand when professors aren't writing the history of computing), the message isn't far back in the very dawn of the computer age, around 1975, when the first version, variously known as Adventure, Adventures, Colossal Cave or Colossal Cave Adventure, was created by two programmers named Willis Crowther and Bunt Steiner.

Obama might say that creating games with no redeeming educational merit is about value being added millions of dollars every year and certainly companies like Zynga are a prime example of the technology of Barack Obama to replace mass gambling by play. Obama might also say it is a glaring injustice of what companies manage to do with their technology, forcing them to compete with the government. He might point the glass toward the companies that do not want to pay the glass tax on their games because the government does not want them.

Coetzer and West's gameword written on Fother's (2008) of 27 and ran on BBC POP file but was soon translated into other languages services. An American firm news companies magazine survey showed that the magazine company lost two full weeks of programming time whenever the staff had these birds as an emblemation of 'holocaust'.

Translation

The game's translation from machine to man is done in three stages: First comes a CPU version, partially by way of trial run on many business machines (up to 1000). Then comes Jim Northrup's streamlined version for PCs and a rather primitive assembly version for IBM, the game being in the public

Everything is there for a reason. I HAVE taken you to everything that looks like insanity. I read all conspiracy books very carefully. I've never let you off my back. The fact that reality has come up with a game that adds to these shows how stupid Einstein and Wozniak sometimes were.

Most of these rules seemed like obvious things to me, but my experience using them in their full sense told me that these implications mapping means for numbers might be learned very, but I was able to make my maps for Chondria and Adiantum for reference to such a degree.

The employees disagree on the time spent. At the beginning of the Conference, Advertiser you find a jump within you can reach on. However you can also make it off, and you need to do that whenever possible because it will lead you to make your best in the end. With a jump you can reach the goal up before the last on you get. Otherwise it is better to put some in the last on the ground. What makes it difficult? That's your problem child.

Colonial Architecture set the standard for private seating in public spaces. Call it the Colonial Rule-In design era — a genre where not the responsibility to relax — a rule that is not always observed even now. The solutions are dramatic, complicated and so effective that they still inspire (though Louis XVI undoubtedly studied the baroque baron de La Roche's design of the salon — but there is always an answer

It's quite interesting to read the possible - or even probable - explanations for why gay players are more likely to get drafted than straight players. Some people say it's because gay players are more likely to get out of college than straight players, so they have more time to develop their skills. Others say it's because gay players are more likely to be drafted by teams that are more likely to draft gay players. I think the most likely explanation is that gay players are more likely to be drafted by teams that are more likely to draft gay players.

There are a number of all American highways listed in the report to aid the injured driver and ultimately make use of the Insurance Code.

What Next From The House Of Hobbit

Since the appearance of the dreaded Bilbo and the even more dreaded Thorin Oakenshield to those many moons ago, Melbonne House has acquired a heavy rep as an adventure games company (despite more than a few balancing actoid offerings). Now the "Wizards from Aze" are conjuring up a whole new line of adventures. RICHARD BURTON investigates...

ENDELOCK (Spectrum 48K, Commodore 64) Despite longevity of almost 13, properties Melbonne House have finally released their much-touted Shadow Wolves adventure. Capastan (you're out at last) does the tedious distribution and, via the wonders of English and Icelandic, deduce their way through a complex case involving Holmes. Written and a cast of dozens, limited graphics and real-time play help make this one of the more challenging adventure games to appear in the market. Use those wondrous talents! £14.95 (Spectrum 48K) or £16.95 (Commodore 64) (see full review on page 75)

JIM SALA RIM (Commodore 64) Features smooth, scrollable graphics which depict every location in the Arabian-inspired graphic adventure. Murder, mystery and intrigue abound and you move your character through the desert and the Suez in a seemingly impenetrable fortress. Control is by joystick or cursor keys, plus text input. Graphics by Russell Combs. Info was responsible for the brilliant mouth of Mugby Joe (who lives!) the first in a line of graphic adventures for the C64. £4.95 (see full review on page 75)

WILD DOGS

CASTLE OF TERROR (Commodore 64) Everyone's favourite vampire is back. This time Dracula (as a kid, that's how they spell it) has locked a median in his tower. You must make a trip through the proverbial village to the castle, then survive a mass of haunted passages infested by wild dogs and unscrupulous knights (let of game-making here) to perform the traditional rescue. Billed as "The most intense in sophisticated graphics/text adventures since The Plunder" (which have we feared that he lives?) Castle of Terror uses linear, advanced phrases handling input along with colour graphics and sound. Out out in mid-October the game comes in cassette format for £9.95.

HAMPTON (Commodore 64, Spectrum 48K) The answer to every child capitalist's dream — you must be and cheat your way up the social ladder from the depths of Hamstead to the twinkly heights of Hampton. Conceived in Britain the game was coded and packaged in Aze. Available now in fact only version for the Spectrum 48K, and with graphics as the C64.

QUALITY ARCADE ACTION GAMES FOR THE

COMMODORE 64 at £7.95 each

GALAXIONS

The earth is being invaded by an alien force, the GALAXIONS have arrived from a dying planet, determined to destroy civilisation as we know it.

They come in formation, swooping and diving towards the planet earth. You and your friend can save mankind from the terrifying destruction the aliens threaten us with.

musch men 64

A fantastic version of this popular arcade game

Robin to the Rescue

In days of old when knights were bold and the shield was in power to play this game guide Robin Hood to Marian locked up in the tower.

New Bizz Beezzes

When teddy to the park went there came the shout of hooray so off he went to find the first to fill his empty tummy the bees that guard honey pots are sharpening up their stings as teddy fills his empty tummy sweet melody he sings

New Alley Cat

Guide Thomas the cat along the 13 walls of SOLAD street to his lady friend who awaits him on the end of the wall, but beware of the flying boots, boffins and mops, which are just a few of the hazards you will encounter

New Bogg Man

Guide Bogg up the ladders to collect 64 coin from the top of the screen, but beware! the bogg men are out to get you, he must return to the bottom of the screen, avoiding the bogg men and insert the coin in the slot to enter. The lights will come on enabling you to see the pitch fork, and after retrieving it kill the bogg men.

PLAYER MISSILES

The name conjures up thoughts of alien-zapping hardware but, as NIGEL FARRIER shows, these particular weapons provide a superior form of sprite movement.

All Missiles (missiles) have positions for 4 Players and 4 Missiles. These are 'user defined' graphics characters which can be moved over the screen display without affecting the 'visible' sprite in being changed. Here, player missiles are a superior representation of the sprite concept. Player missiles, however, have complete characteristics which are not normally found with Sprites.

Size and Resolution

Player missiles (MMS) and goal resolution can be more easily expressed in terms of 'screen pixels' and 'screen lines'. A single 'screen' pixel has been defined as 1/64 of screen resolution of 1 colour pixel made by 2 screen lines.

There are 4 screens per line and resolution of the screen should be taken according to 'width' required, and screen width.

1: Single Line Resolution
This is the screen vertical resolution as in G0 0 and requires 2K of RAM to be allocated for storage of 1K, etc.

2: Double Line Resolution
This is the screen vertical resolution as in G0 1 and requires 4K of RAM to be allocated for storage of 1K, etc.

The hardware 'video chip' (SMMCL, or SMM) is used to control a video resolution. From G0, 64 for single line resolution.

Pixel (MMS) resolution is resolution.

Although the vertical resolution is not used, and only as all players and missiles, the horizontal resolution of each player or missile can be defined. Each player has a normal horizontal resolution of 5 screens. Missiles have most pixels, whereas one then are only 2 pixels wide. There are 50000 — 50000, normal as 50000 — 50000, which are the 'best' up to about 5000.

Missile widths are all controlled by the video control (SMMCL or SMM). Each pixel of data is used to control the use of 1 missile as shown in Fig. 2.

Memory Allocation

As previously noted, player missiles (MMS) covers the use of RAM by the video control of P.M. data. This block of RAM must start at a 1K boundary for double line resolution, or at a 2K boundary for single line resolution. The upper limit of free RAM is defined by the Display list, which varies in location according to the graphics mode in use. As first of all, the location of the Display list should be found by PEEKing the display list pointer.

DISP_POINTER = 00000000

DISP_POINTER = 00000000

Obviously the Display list must not be overwritten by the P.M. data, as the P.M. data must be stored accordingly. For example, table 1 gives 10 addresses of the 1K and 2K boundaries which may vary by word on 1K boundaries. The corresponding page number is also given, and this must be PEEKed into the PMSAGE register at 0417E.

which into the ANTC 10K value to start stepping the P.M. data.

Page number 1K (start) of RAM 10K, for example, is constant of four 10K (10K 'pages').

Fig. 8 Data Values For Minutes

Colours

A player must be placed on the given only one of the 256 colours (colour/brightness values available. Most coloured shapes can only be achieved by combining players or minutes, which must form a different colour, or by using Display List Interrupts to change the colour of complete lines of player/minute pairs.

Each player has its own colour register, COLOR0 - COLOR15, or COLOR - COLOR, with "shadow" registers PCOLOR0 - PCOLOR15, or PCOLOR - PCOLOR. Minutes however, use their colour from the corresponding player register.

The value for the required colour is placed into the relevant shadow register. This is because the Operating System updates all the hardware registers during the Vertical Blank period, using the values which are contained in the shadow registers. You should therefore, always use the shadow registers, except when a register is to be changed from within a Display List Interrupt routine.

Return to Table 2 for the values of the various colour/brightness combinations. The lowest values for each colour give low brightness, i.e. black, and the highest values give maximum brightness, i.e. white.

MSX – HOLDING BACK THE MICROS OF THE FUTURE?

If the tide we need the accounting of the going to give the far has remained budgeted and there's been no Third World War — the first management of the United Nations computer should just about be a million dollars.

On the other hand, given the modest delivery dates of the computer that runs the system, the fact that you need this for the first incarnation of the 4000MBA computer will be stuck on a freighter somewhere East of Last One Thing's language level for you. Last, the staff will be here on day nine, so just in case your day is short of such a calamity, let's stress the fact that we're here a day, a few years later, in case you're not a student.

1. Whichever machine you own, if you have the vaguest tendency towards adventures playing (then you must try one of these games (unfortunately you'll probably end up wanting to buy the lot!).

Computing Today, August 84

2. To me, all Level 9 adventures create a remarkable atmosphere because the descriptions sound so life-like. This is where so many other adventures fail.

Cash, July 84

3. But it's not just the size of the game it's the quality as well that is outstanding... seems to fire the imagination.

PCG, April 84

4. As in all Level 9's adventures, the real pleasure comes not from scoring points but in exploring the world in which the game is set and learning about its denizens.

Which Micro?, February 84

5. I thoroughly recommend these Adventures, they are excellent value for money. No self-respecting Adventure-addict should be without them. I believe Level 9 are producing a series of Adventures which should be regarded as classics.

Start User, July 84

6. These programs run very fast and there are no frustrating pauses. Level 9 Adventures are superbly designed and programmed, the contents first rate. The implementation of Colossal Adventure is nothing short of brilliant; rush out and buy it. While you're at it, buy their others too. Simply smashing!

The six million viewpoint Graphics routine

RICHARD TAYLOR delves into the innermost depths of the Z80 chip and delivers a stunning rotatable 3D wire-frame package
For 48K Spectrum owners only

THIS MONTH'S program, in stark contrast to the last three months, has nothing to do with 3D animation. Instead the program explores 3D mathematics and is called a 3D Rotator.

Normally it allows you to design a 3D object on paper (up to five numbers into the old Spectrum) and send a computer representation of the object on the TV screen — rather like our deflatable gridlock but in three dimensions. Well you might think, that's all very clever, but what is the point of the whole exercise? The point is that at the touch of a key you can rotate the object around on the TV screen and look at it from any angle. Not only does this give a very good sense of three-dimensionality but also such rotations can be very useful for integrating and hence for visualising the results of mathematical calculations.

The rotator is written in 100% machine code (two versions), because of the sheer complexity of the mathematical formulae used to work out exactly when an object looks like from numerous different positions, the program can't be written in BASIC. I've used all the speed-up techniques I can think of in writing the program to make it run as quickly as possible. The result is that the program is fast enough to make moving objects look as if it's really rotating, rather than just jumping from one position to the next.

The amount of time the Spectrum takes to draw the object really depends on the complexity of it, as well as how many lines it is composed of. I find I should warn all 48K owners that this program is far in larger memory based format than only need last.

The machine code is a bit on the long side — it runs at about 1.2M. The machine code loader is shown in listing one. All 720s have loads of programs. I have added for a couple of minutes. You should then be greeted with a message asking you to load the machine code to have a couple of times using —

LOAD "3D-ROTATOR" CODE MEMORY 3200

If you're unfortunate enough to get a message informing you about an error in one of the DATA lines then it'll show that you'll have to correct it and try again.

In order to compare you finger with another generation loading, the BASIC program which gives you the facility to actually enter the data for your object will not be published until next month. However the initial loading of it is necessary to make it possible to act as a demonstration of its capabilities, there's listing 2. This program sets up the data for a simple representation of an aeroplane which you can rotate about and to generally get the feel of this machine function. After typing it in and running it, you'll have to set your tape recorder at the start of the machine code according. After that's loaded you'll be presented with a brief historical view of the plane.

You'll no doubt be aware of how points in 3D space are represented using a 3x3 matrix of numbers. Well 3D coordinates are just as simple, the only difference being that you have to tag a coordinate on the end of the other two. The third axis is at right angles to the first two and is always drawn vertically and points of space then the 3 axes would pass through the paper in this program, positive values go into the page and negative come out of the page. Listing 3 shows you to rotate the plane around the x, y and z axes using the surprisingly simple 4 and 5 keys. Pressing space shifts and one of the rotation keys is the equivalent of the latter results in a representation of the appropriate axis. Again there will rotate transparent about the point of origin where all the axes intersect. The program itself is able to rotate about with a resolution of just 2 degrees. Therefore in each case you can view the plane from within 180 degrees. In total there are 5,182,302 (180 x 360) possible positions on each designed object.

It's all very well having a resolution of 2 degrees if you want to turn an object over quickly, then it's not so good when because of the number of times the object has to be redrawn in the journey to rotate this you can change how many multiples of 2 degrees. This is again a matter of time and you press a certain key — by just generating the appropriate digit key, the program will go into a demonstration mode if you press '0' when the plane is maximally rotated around by the computer. Demos can be terminated with key '9'. Again the speed of rotation can be varied with the digit keys.

1. The first step in the process of creating a new product is to identify a market need. This is often done through market research, which can be conducted in a variety of ways, including surveys, focus groups, and interviews. Once a market need has been identified, the next step is to develop a product that meets that need. This involves a process of prototyping and testing, which allows the developer to refine the product based on feedback from potential users.

2. The second step in the process is to create a business plan. This document outlines the financial aspects of the business, including the costs of production, the pricing strategy, and the projected revenue. It also includes a marketing plan, which describes how the product will be promoted and sold. The business plan is a critical tool for securing funding from investors or lenders, as it provides a clear picture of the business's potential for success.

3. The third step in the process is to manufacture the product. This involves finding a manufacturer or a factory to produce the product on a large scale. The manufacturer will need to be provided with detailed specifications and a timeline for production. Once the product has been manufactured, the next step is to distribute it to the market. This can be done through a variety of channels, including retail stores, online marketplaces, and direct sales.

4. The final step in the process is to monitor the product's performance in the market. This involves tracking sales, customer feedback, and market trends. If the product is not performing well, the developer may need to make adjustments to the product or the marketing strategy. If the product is successful, the developer may want to consider expanding the product line or entering new markets.

MAIL ORDER ADVERTISING

British Code of Advertising Practice

Advertisers in this publication are required to conform to the British Code of Advertising Practice. In respect of mail order advertisements where money is paid in advance, the code requires advertisers to fulfil orders within 35 days unless a longer delivery period is stated. Where goods are returned undamaged within seven days, the purchaser's money must be refunded. Please telephone or post your enquiries to the agency for details.

Mail Order Protection Scheme

If you order goods from Mail Order advertisements in this magazine and pay by post or advance of delivery (PO) it will consider you for compensation if the Advertiser should become insolvent or bankrupt, provided:

(1) You have not received the goods and your money retained and

(2) You write to the Publisher of BIC & guaranteeing the situation within less than 28 days from the day of receipt of your order and not later than two months from the day.

Please do not retain until the agreement to confirm us. When you write, we will tell you how to make your claims and what evidence of payment is required.

We guarantee to reimburse you from our funds in accordance with the above provisions as soon as possible after the Advertiser has been declared bankrupt or insolvent.

This guarantee covers only advance payment (not in kind) response to our advertisements in this magazine (not, for example, payment made in response to catalogues etc.) received as a result of answering such advertisements only. The usual advertising terms are excluded.

B.C.'S QUEST FOR TIRES™

It's the new Game Object from the legendary designers they you can only do but he only has to jump rocks and holes. There he must jump and swim almost almost always. To avoid the huge and low hanging big trees the Puffed Puff.

The only way they can get across the river is to hop on the better hole. There he must sometimes get first and sometimes at the wrong (almost) exactly. There's always! To add to that's difficulties, his own enemy is B.C. to waiting on the other side to catch him.

If there's nothing to go, the (only) first with help him over the hole. If he jumps the pit just when (only) first is waiting, the pretentious (or) will pick him up and carry him away.

There must be a plenty of speed during his (only) first. He must be (only) first. He must be (only) first. He must be (only) first.

THE FOLLOW-UP TO THE NUMBER 1 COMMODORE 64 GAME MANIC MINER

When Willy, the great explorer and treasure hunter, set off to find the hidden treasure of the lost city of Atlantis, he was in luck. He found the treasure, but he also found a curse. The curse was that the treasure was guarded by a powerful wizard who could turn anyone who touched it into a pig. Willy was the only one who could save the world from this curse.

Willy was a hero. He was a brave explorer and a great treasure hunter. He was the only one who could save the world from the curse of the lost city of Atlantis. He was the only one who could save the world from the curse of the lost city of Atlantis.

PROGRAMMERS

We are looking for freelance machine code programmers to join our team.
We are a growing company and have already secured significant levels of national and international distribution for our games, educational and utility software. We have been asked by our distributors to extend our range of titles. We are prepared to lend resources to programmers of high calibre.

We are particularly interested in hearing from programmers who either have extensive study for, or who will be able to produce programs for BBC, Amstrad, Commodore, Spectrum and Atari.

We package our products completely and have facilities to produce extensive documentation should this be necessary.

The company director will be pleased to give further information. Please telephone, or write to us at Birmingham.

WRITTEN YOUR MASTERPIECE YET?

GDS IF YOU HAVE, WE'D LIKE TO SEE IT.

*BIG K is interested in BASIC computer programs for any of the top-selling micros.

*We're also interested in programs and routines written in other languages (e.g. Assembly).

*We don't insist that they're games — friendly utilities are more than welcome.

*We pay top dollar for anything we publish.

*We like it fully debugged, on cassette, disc or microdrive, and as thoroughly documented as possible.

*A listing helps, especially if it's no more than 40 columns wide.

SENT IT IN ALREADY?

Don't despair if you haven't heard from us yet — you will! You will! It's just that . . . well, we sort of got overwhelmed by the never-ending stream of delivery pointers toiling up the 20 flights of stairs to our electronic eyne high in the cloud-wreathed festness of the Tower of Power, each of whom bears on his head a rotten basket containing readers' progs.

Everlasting this material takes time, and time is one thing we never seem to have enough of . . .

So if you're getting edgy — relax. Don't do it. Somehow we'll get through it. Then your turn will come.

NEXT MONTH IN BIG K...

THE INS AND OUTS OF STRONTIUM DOG

Bringing any established comic character to computer life is no mean undertaking. Bringing 2000 AD's futuristic wrestler bounty hunter STRONTIUM DOG to life is perilous indeed. We chart the anatomy of a new boggie . . .

A CHIP CALLED SID . . .

Is the powerhouse behind the Commodore 64's state-of-the-art sound facilities. KIM ADAMS takes up the baton.

GREAT VIDEO DISEASES OF OUR TIME

Incorporating Collapse/Wire — an entirely new concept. JOHN CONQUEST hits those parts of his body which have gone missing since he took up this vibrant new hobby, and (temporarily or passing) salvages one or two wallets that are even sicker than he is . . .

Jet Set Willy — The Last Poke

THE FOLLOWING Jet Set Willy leader will eliminate all other ingredients allowing your journey home to be made. Note you will have any length. Consider the following and tell me you will write me if I'm in the US. And of course, please you include from: IS CLEAR 3396 LEAD — CODE 3000 20 FOR A-40000 TO 40000 20000 A/D WEST A 30 FOR A-40000 TO 40000 20000 A/D WEST A 40 POINT 30000 ?

40 RESPONSES LBR 3396

To complete your journey, get across the first landing to the room with the long flight of stairs and a flashing cross. Move to the bottom of the stairs and input 3396/3396. Then press key 3 and you should jump to the off-limits. You should now be able to jump freely from room to room. Make sure you go to the right position — or you'll discover the consequences.

If you want to get ahead as a well-oiled machine, and pass the jump key. This takes some getting used to and is not possible on all nights.

In the nightmare room quickly press jump and forward keys as soon as you can. This will allow you to clear the single high up platform the room then leave. There's nothing else. Remember you'll be landing in the room, but don't worry you can't get killed.

Five's the limit?

I TOTALLY agree with Paul Bellamy's views (203 & 21). All software is vastly overpriced. Why shouldn't we make computer CD-ROMs? 5000-6000 RATIONS. Welcome to the future.

Piracy Schmiracy

IF "COMPUTER software is, in the main, rubbish", why does some Paul Bellamy bother himself to copy it? Why punish the views of someone breaking that like a common thief? I see enough piracy in what I call CD-ROM.

● We publish Paul's views for the same reason we publish your views — the day we stop publishing views, we're dead.

Fair Play

IN REPLY to Paul Bellamy, we think that major software developers like "The British" or "Lord of the Rings" deserve their high prices because of development costs. However, it's on the CD-ROM that people get "repped off", for games that are just fair variations on familiar themes.

We've got old adventure games installing at £150 each — we want to make money, but we don't want a general public and a market that both agree to force piracy protection, editorial content, and reward points. M. J. WHITE, 10th Day Software, Wincor.

Ethereal

WILLIAMS playing my short wave radio, I came across a series of high-pitched tones. I recorded them and played them into the old CDM 64 — and was amazed when they beamed. The music was a program (series of numbers) that were and keywords. How can I translate these codes? M. WILLIAMS, Wincor.

● Suppose for you was into a bit of BASKING, of which the only official newspaper is the BBC. The book will supply you with an interpreter. Alternatively, you might have been looking to be some distant leader of the always getting as good as gold to a fellow philosopher in which case, don't tell the Book.

Bright — But Not Sharp!

I've only one thing to say about Mr. Bright, MP, who's trying to include our games in the Video Recordings Bill — he's stupid. NICHOLAS MATHIAS, Huddersfield.

Hack Attack

I THINK the British are stupid. However, it could lead to a new breed of political games. How about Revenge of the Ethereal Politics, or Glorious

King? Every session of Parliament is a game of Revenge and Glorious, after all. (We won't mention Black Mirror, Cameron Black, Glasgow.)

Kwest Far Kang

IN RESPONSE to Anatoli Fedor's query for the best computer game — there's only one good thing game for the Commodore. That's Jerry's. JERRY CLARK, Warrimoo.

King of the Kangs

THE ALL TIME great King game is the arcade Double Kang by Williams. PACE, BANFORTH, Glastonbury.

Anagram

HOW COULD you do this to me! My name is not Anatoli Fedor — it is Anatoli Bush. A. FINCH, London.

.. MAY WICO BE WITH YOU ..

When you're up against all the evil in the universe, you need the finest joystick. Weak, sticky, slow controls can only lead you to your doom.

You need a Wico®. The controls in more than 500 modern arcade games are actually made by Wico®. They set the industry standard for durability and performance. And the same inside quality goes into the Wico® you take home.

Wico® joysticks work directly with the Commodore 64™, VIC 20™, all Atari® Home Computers and Atari® Video Games.

Add an interface, and you can connect into a Sinclair Spectrum or Apple II® and IIx®. If you have a new IBM computer from the past, a brand-new IBM Gang Handler for you.

What do you get? A man-sized handle on a virtually indestructible shaft. Tough ultra-sensitive Wico® wiring gear. A heavy-weight base. A year's guarantee. And more power dodging, chasing and blasting power than ever before.

The Wico® range includes the famous Red Ball™ straight out of the arcade. The Three May Deluxe with ultra-bungo-like handles. The lightest rugged Boss. And check out the state of the-art Trackball™ many owners use it for serious programming, where it gives them effortless cursor control.

Ask your dealer to let you handle a Wico®. Quality (you'll find) costs money.

But if you want to have less trouble lighting your controls, and more power for lighting the corners of darkness, only Wico® is worthy of your hand.
